AN ACTRESS NINE YEARS OLD.

Seeking to Put a Stop to a Little Girl's Stage Career.

New York Tribune.

An officer of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children yesterday took before Judge Donohue, the Supreme Court Chambers, a little girl of about nine years called Corinne, who is alleged to have been "unlawfully exhibited, used and employed in the vocation, service and purpose of dancing, singing and acting at divers theaters in this State, and very recently of the city of Albany." The petition on which the order of arrest was based sets forth that Corinne has thus been exhibited by Jennie Kimball, otherwise called Jennie Flaherty, who is not the lawful guardian of the child, nor a fit person to be intrusted with her education or control. It was the intention of Jennie Kimball to exhibit Corinne at the Metropolitan Casino. Such exhibitions, the petition says are accompanied by singing and dancing, require the committal to memory of large portions of plays, and are greatly detrimental to the child. Corinne's parents are both dead.

Elbridge T. Gerry appeared for the Society, and asked that an order should be made according the custody of Corinne to the Society until the court decided what disposition should finally be made in regard to her future care and custody. G. L. Rives, on the part of Mrs. Flaherty, opposed Mr. Gerry's motion, and declared that it would be literally, committing Corinne to prison.

The return to the petition, sworn to by Mrs. Flaherty, and her husband, Thomas Flaherty, denies every material statement in the petition of the Society, and alleges that Corinne was given to Flaherty by her mother, who is still living, and who is perfectly satisfied with the care and education which Corinne receives. The exhibitions referred to in the petition, it is stated, are not accompanied by dancing, and the committal to memory of parts of operas imposed no task upon the child, but were a source of pleasure to her. Corinne was not deprived of advantages of proper education; on the contrary, the advantages which she enjoyed were far better than those of the great majority of children. She had regular lessons every day, her health was excellent, and she went out walking every pleasant day with her maid. She also had a carriage and ponies of her own, which she drove constantly. Mr. Rives also produced a copy of a license permitting Corinne to perform in Boston, and the certificate of the physician who had attended her from birth, in which her health is said to be perfect.

Justice Donohue said that it was the usual course in such cases to commit the child to the custody of the Society until a final determination in the case had been reached, and that he could find no authority for departing from the usual course. Mr. Rives then asked Justice Donohue to allow either the foster mother or the maid to accompany the child. It was finally decided that the maid should go with Corinne. The examination of witnesses was then begun. Corinne herself was first called. She was richly and tastefully dressed in a mauve velvet dress, with silk stockings to match. She has dark hair and eyes and a fresh olive complexion.

She said her name was Corinne Kimball, and that she would be ten years at Christmas. She did not know how long she had known Mrs. Flaherty (whom she called mamma) but it was a very long time. She played the part of Little Buttercup in Boston when she was about six years old. Her mamma taught her the part. She played every night, and sometimes in the afternoon, besides. She afterward played parts of Cinderella, Olivette and Mascotte, in each of which she sang three or four songs. She had traveled from Halifax to Nebraska. Her carriage and ponies were always taken along on her trips about the country. She had a coachman and a driver. When she sang she frequently received applause, and had been called out as often as four times when she sang in "Pinafore." She enjoyed singing and appearing in public performances.

The examination will be continued today, Corinne wept bitterly at the prospect of being removed from her foster mother to the pure influences of the Society, and refused to be comforted, although Mrs. Flaherty seemed to make every effort to console her.

Six Important Points in Breeding.

Observation has proved that the following cardinal points in the art of breeding have been fairly established:

1. from the male parent are mainly derived the external structure, configuration and outward characteristics, the locomotive peculiarities inclusive.

2. From the female parent are derived the internal structure, the vital organs, and in a much greater proportion than from the male, the constitution, temper and habits.

3. That the purer the race of the parent the more certainty there is of transmitting its qualities to the offspring. If two animals are mated and one is of purer descent than the other, he or she will exercise the most influence in stamping the character of the offspring, particularly if the greater purity is on the side of the male, if of pure race and descended from a stock of uniform color, stamps the color of the progeny.

4. Apart from certain influences or causes, the male, if of pure race and descended from a stock of uniform color, stamps the color of the offspring.

5. The influence of the first male is not frequently protracted beyond the birth of the offspring of which he is the parent, and his mark is left upon subsequent progeny.

6. The transmission of diseases of the vital organs is more certain if on the side of the female, and diseases of the joints if on the side of the male parent.

An Epitaph.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson combines shorthorn breeding with his advocacy of temperance. He bought a bull at an extravagant price from the Duke of Devonshire. It was found dead recently, and, with regretful look at the deceased beast, the generous baronet, on the spur of the moment, struck off the following epitaph:

Here lies Baron Oxford 6th,
Quiet and cool,
Bred by a Duke and
Bought by a fool.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

TUESDAY EVENING, DEC. 6, 1881.

The report of the Advisory Board of the Navy relative to the requirements of the service is severely criticised, and there is a prospect that it will vigorously attacked in Congress.

The Boston Post says: That excessively modest statesman, Mr. James G. Blaine, has caused to be printed a list of offices for which he is not an applicant. That of the Presidency is not included.

ALTHOUGH the delegates selected at the County Convention, Monday, are not instructed, it is understood that they are for Mr. George B. Poage of Bracken county, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

THE threatening attitude of Mexico towards Guatemala creates great excitement in Central America. All the states, even Costa Rica, support Guatemala. The secretary of the French legation in Guatemala has been arrested and the minister has written a strong letter of complaint to Paris.

BILLS have been prepared for presentation in congress to revise the tariff laws and repeal internal revenue tax on various articles. Ex-Speaker Randall will have a three-per-cent refunding bill, the same as that vetoed by President Hayes, with some omissions and changes, and the addition of some sections of the Carlisle supplement bill.

THE tobacco crop of the United States is worth annually less than forty millions of dollars to its producers, and yet our own Government, and the various governments of Europe, derive an annual revenue of one hundred and sixty millions alone from this single product. In other words, one agricultural product yields to governments a revenue more than four times the amount the entire crop puts into the pockets of those who produce it.

It has probably escaped general notice that in the political canvass just closed there was a scarcity of brass band processions and torchlight processions such as the politicians have gotten up in former campaigns for the purpose of influencing voters. The use of clap-trap demonstrations at elections that appeal to the eye and the ear rather than the reason is seemingly dying out. The brass band performers and the torchlight bearers will doubtless find some other and more profitable employment outside of political shows.

IF there is to be a game of state-making in order to secure republican ascendancy in the United States Senate the democracy have decided advantage. When Texas was admitted to the union in 1845 it was with the stipulation that its territory might be divided into four more states of convenient size. Texas has a population of 1,597,509 and an area of 274,356 square miles enough for five states larger than Pennsylvania. If the consent of Texas could be obtained four more states could be added to the union, all with much larger population than the Territory of Dakota, out of which it is proposed to make a state, and the Senate could be reenforced with eight democratic senators.

Has B'neck Sold Out?

The rumor is current on the street today, that the road bed of the Cincinnati and South Eastern Railway has been sold to the Chesapeake and Ohio, and that the latter is to take possession of it immediately. We give the report for what it is worth.

BY TELEGRAPH.

The President removed to the White House on Monday.

Mr. Frost, of Missouri, will introduce a bill in Congress to amend the rules so as to provide for an additional committee on Mississippi River improvement.

Ex-speaker Randall is preparing a three per cent. funding bill.

It is said Robson will object to seating Chalmers, of Mississippi, and Dibble, of South Carolina, on the ground that they were not elected. If he does the democrats will resist and a dead-lock is possible.

More changes in the treasury department are rumored. Assistant Secretary French will go, also Chief Brooks, of the Secret Service.

R. E. Bentwell shot B. P. Burgess fatally through the bowels at Carley Island, Fla.

The wife and child of J. W. Lewis were mysteriously murdered near Antioch Church, Ga. A negro suspected of the crime was arrested.

The court was crowded Monday. Guitau made a speech saying he wanted the insanity experts to understand that he claimed to have been impelled by a power he could not control, to do a certain act, and the question was whether that was insanity. J. B. Kiernan testified he believed the prisoner insane. On his cross examination Kiernan said he believed a man's mind could be diseased and his moral nature not; that he did not believe in a state of future rewards and punishment; that all the acts of the prisoner proved insanity; that a man who believed he was commanded by God would act the same as any other man. Guitau cried out "God interjects an idea into me; I work it out my own way; God always gets the best brains to do his work, not fools."

Near Irwinton, Ga., S. Miller was fatally cut by H. Carswell.

Height's tannery at Ballston, N. Y., burned. Loss $50,000.

A bailiff who was serving writs at Rathdowney, Ireland, was murdered by the farmers.

A fresh outbreak of the anti-Jewish agitation is imminent in Russia.

The steamer Jane Miller foundered near Wharton, Ont., Twenty-seven lives were lost.

At Chicago, Frank Banke, a tailor, cut his young child's throat and then attempted to kill himself.

The London Telegraph in discussing the question of Guitau's madness says: "In such cases the verdict of mankind at large is more to be trusted than a jury, and undoubtedly the general voice demands that Guitau shall pay the full penalty of his crime."

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The Delegates to Frankfort go Uninstructed.

Meeting of the County Executive Committee.

Pursuant to a call issued by the chairman, Hon. E. Whitaker, the Democratic Executive Committee met at the office of Whitaker & Robertson on Monday, December 5th. On call of the precincts all were represented except Sardis No. 6 and Chester No. 13.

On motion it was ordered that we hold a county convention on Monday, January 9, 1882, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of nominating candidates to be voted at the August election, 1882. On further motion it was ordered that the various precincts in the county hold their precinct conventions on Saturday, January 7, 1882, at 2 o'clock p. m., to select delegates to said convention. On motion this convention adopts the Hancock vote as the basis of representation in said county convention, and on further motion it was ordered that each precinct be entitled to one delegate for each fifty votes and a fraction of twenty-five votes or over cast for Hancock for President.

Under the above ratio it is ordered that Maysville No 1 will be entitled to 10 votes.

EMERY WHITAKER, Ch. Dem. Ex. Com.
John Alexander, Secretary.

In pursuance of the call of the State Executive Committee and of the chairman of the County Executive Committee, the Democracy of Mason county in mass meeting assembled at the court house Monday afternoon, December 5th, to select delegates to the state convention which will meet at Frankfort, January 11th, 1882 for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Judge Whitaker called the meeting to order. He was then elected permanent chairman and Thos. R. Phister was elected secretary.

Mr. James Sallee moved that a committee of three or five be appointed to select delegates to the state convention. An amendment was offered by Mr. John Watson that the delegates be appointed by the chairman from a list which he offered, the precincts reserving the power of adding to or striking from it. The amendment was voted down and the original motion carried. The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to select delegates: James Sallee, Wesley Vicroy, W. S. Clift, S. R. Brooks, E. M. Groves. Committee retired and soon returned with the following report:

Resolved, That the following named persons be and are hereby appointed delegates to represent Mason county in the State Convention to be held at Frankfort, Ky., on the 11th, of January 1882, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Clerk of the court of Appeals.

T. A. Respass, Dr. James Shackleton, J. D. Keehoe, Wesley Vicroy, B. D. Parry, J. W. Alexander, J. W. Watson, W. W. Bell, Fox Respass, W. W. Baldwin, J. H. Sallee, Berry Taylor, T. M. Pearce, A. T. Mitchell, W. Mathews, A. Piper, J. Laytham, J. T. Wilson, Dr. H. L. Parry, S. R. Brooks, S. M. Poyntz, J. R. Lashbrooke, A. K. Marshall, J. H. Rice, S. M. Strode, J. Davis, Dr. J. D. Daugherty, J. Alexander, A. Hord, T. Luttrell, Dr. J. Barnes, J. T. Godard, H. Farrow, C. Kennan, L. Bullock, G. Hull, C. Coryell, L. Jenkins, J. Lee, H. Dietrich, N. Whitaker, J. J. Wood, J. Culbertson, C. Dietrich, Wm. Britton.

The report was adopted.

Lee Robertson then moved to adjourn, seconded by John Whitaker, but before the motion was put Mr. Sulser asked permission to read a resolution, stating that the resolution did not relate to instructing the delegates of the convention. Motion to adjourn not withdrawn but permission granted to Mr. Sulser to read his resolution for the instruction of the meeting. It was as follows:

Resolved—That our Representative in the House of Representatives of Kentucky, Hon. J. D. Kshoe, be and he is hereby requested to prepare and have passed at the present session of the legislature of Kentucky an act making the election laws of the state of Kentucky applicable to all primary elections held by any political party for the selection of candidates to be voted for at the elections under the state laws, in the county of Mason.

A motion was made by John Whitaker to lay such resolution on the table, which motion was declared out of order. The motion to adjourn was put to the house. The noes had it from the sound. Mr. L. Ed. Pearce then moved that the delegates be instructed for Mr. G. B. Poage, of Bracken County, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. The chairman, however, suggested that if some one would call for a count he would have a count on the motion to adjourn. Mr. James Sallee moved for a count and the ayes was declared to have it. The meeting was then declared adjourned.

TWO STATES.

KENTUCKY.

The Interior Journal says: "Alleged cures at Pink Cottage are not so frequent as formerly."

John Wooley shot and killed Jack Lucas, near Big Hill in Madison county, last week.

Louisville Post: "A Warren county man gave his son a cruel flogging in the public street, and yet there are some persons who are opposed to the branch penitentiary being located at Bowling Green."

The Bowling Green Democrat says that "grave injustice is being done the tax payers of the State in forcing them to support the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Lexington, by a tax of near $20,000 per year, to the evident detriment of their own home institutions."

Joe Mulholland says: "Bnd Elkin of Clarke county, had a little daughter born the second month in the year, the second day of the month, the second day of the week, the second hour of the day, and is his second child, and the mother of the child is his second wife." And has the second crop of mother-in-law.

Post: A distressing accident occurred near Martinsburg, Ky., on Wednesday by which Wm. Henry, aged fourteen, son of Isaac Sparks a prominent farmer, lost his life. The boy's little brother handed him a loaded rifle, which he took by the muzzle, and by some means the gun was discharged, the contents entering the breast, killing him almost instantly.

At a shooting match near Cynthiana, a row occurred between Ambrose Morrison and Thomas Whalen, and the latter shot Morrison through the bowels, while Morrison cut Whalen all to pieces. Both men were mortally wounded.

OHIO.

Rev. George Mitchell, of Concord, was found dead in bed.

Sherman Hamilton was killed while coupling cars at Lorain City.

W. A. Harding, a prominent merchant of Wooster, died unexpectedly.

There are 1,231 convicts in the penitentiary, with the prospect of 1,400 before the winter is over.

Chink Johnson, colored, was tried and convicted of robbing by a jury composed entirely of colored men, at Zanesville.

Thomas Gray and Frank Sherer, for cutting with intent to kill, were sent to the penitentiary from Ironton for two years.

Philip Kercher committed suicide at Bellevue.

John Donovan was fatally kicked by a horse at Mansfield.

Andias Woods accidentally shot himself at Sarahsville.

Joseph Harper while coupling cars at Gallion lost a foot.

A. D. Miller, bank keeper at Canton, is missing. His accounts are short.

Speaker Keifer is said to have his eye upon the Ohio senatorship.

Mr. Harris, editor of the Ravenna Democrat, was robbed by bungo men at New York of $425.
